Description

A round leather over glass Shoulder Flask.

A leather hide case with raised seams has been tightly fitted over the glass flask it protects. The case has three loops to take a belt strap, which may have been reduced in length. The flask has a cork stopper with a brass pin through it linked by a cap to its top and bottom. A hanging ring to the top helps pull the cork out. The back of the flask is slightly concave. Late 19th Century.
