Description

A pair of mahogany, low foot stools with needlework upholstery and bold turning to the leg.

Given the size of these square foot stools you wouldn't think there would be a need for them to reduce further in size for travel. However, the legs are fitted with wooden threads and unscrew from the frames. The length of the threads are as long as the legs giving a strong fitting. The blocks that receive the legs are all lightly marked with numbers from 1 to 8 in Roman numerals but curiously the feet don't have corresponding marks.

It's always nice to have a pair and these stools stand well with a good shape to the leg. Early to mid 19th Century.
