Description

A medium sized Crocodile Skin Suitcase.

The interior of the suitcase is lined with a large pocket to the lid interior and several of various sizes fitted around the sides of the case. The handle has good brass fittings and the two locks have slide catches. The key long since departed company. The bottom of the trunk has a brass domed stud foot to each corner to raise it slightly off the ground. The top of the case has a shaped crocodile patch with the initials V.G.T.

This case is well made and would be a good size for a weekend away. Early 20th Century.
