Description

A large, steel Sword Paper Knife with scabbard.

The guard has a wire toggle to it and the blade is chromed. The quality is perhaps not quite as good as the other sword paperknives we have had in the past but it is unusual for its size.

The length of this paper knife is approximately 2 inches longer than most that you see. The third image shows a standard size next to this one for comparison. The paper knife is still usable. Early to mid 20th century.

The standard size paperknife in photo 3 is available elsewhere on this website.
